

1. Introduction

This study examines treatment effects after adjusting for confounding.

An anonymous typographical fix, no reviewer anchor attached to it.

1.1. Background

First mention of a recurring comment, expanded here with additional detail.

2. Methods

We used the Mann-Whitney U test as suggested by the second reviewer.

A concern raised jointly by two reviewers addressed with a new sentence.

A passage mixing a removal and an addition without being a single new wording replacement.

3. Results

Second mention of the same recurring comment, addressed again here with more detail.

This paragraph is unchanged; the reviewer's comment just points to it.

Editor-requested fix: new wording.